

- Damian!
- I am glad we can catch up! How are you?
- I've gotta tell you, you've inspired me and sent me on a journey.
- You and I have talked about it a little bit and really, you have been here since the beginning. It's been a heck of a ride so far.
- You took a chance on me and I appreciate that. I am a big fan of practicing gratitude, so, thank you.
- I am getting ready to run another charity event with oh of Harry Leary's friends from the modern era. My prime era was like 87-93. You've been around since the beginning. Is there any insight you can give me regarding Harry Leary so that I can understand him a little better?
- First word to come to mind when you think of Harry as a BMX legend.
- You and I have a little charity work together through a Facebook group called the Unofficial Harry Leary Fireside Chat. Can you share a little about how we came together to run a charity event.
- Thanks for sharing that insight.
- What is this that I hear about you working for Hot Wheels? What did you do there?
- When we first talked, you mentioned that you are a big fan of e-sports devices. Many people are torn or don't agree. State your case.
- Do you think e-BMX has a future as a sport?
- I ask because I have a young daughter and I know you had three if I am not mistaken.
 - When your kids were growing up, what did they love to watch that you hated?
 - What was your favorite thing to cook for your kids when they were younger?
 - What's a family tradition of yours that other families might find weird?
