

- Intro

- “Anne-Marie, look at that. It is the London Bridge.”
- “You know, like the song. Yeah!”
- Linda: “Kyle, is that you and Anne-Marie?”
- “Linda! Hi! It is nice to finally meet you.”
- “Using the London-Bridge Harley Davidson store as our meet-up was a good choice, it was easy to find.”
- “We used to collect the Harley store decals for my father-in-law so we always get a smile when we see one now.”
- “Anne—Marie is going to join us on our walk today. I am going to let you know that this may be a challenge, she is still in the toddling phase.”
- “Well, if you are ready, let's do this.”
- “I can't believe we are about to cross the London Bridge. I promise I will try to suppress my desire to sing the song.”
- “I guess we will go up and make a loop then find the paver?”
- “Alright ladies, let's do this! Lead the way.”

- Harry & Linda growing up

- “Do you mind taking me back and sharing a bit about your childhood and being Harry's younger sister?”
- “You are 18 months younger than Harry?”
- “And you also have a younger sister?”

- "What's your earliest memory of your brother?"
- "Did you look up to him, or fear him when you two were young?"
- "As you two grew-up, how did the two of you's relationship develop?"
- "Ok, so I asked about your earliest memory, but what is your favorite memory of Harry from before BMX?"
- "If you could go back and spend a day with Harry as kids, before all of this BMX stuff, how would you two have the perfect day?"

- Transition

- (whisper) "Wow, look at that kiddo! This is it! We are about to step foot on the London Bridge."
- "I read that they brought this here in 1971 but it was built originally in 1831."
- "I almost didn't believe that it existed."
- "Everyone says, I have a bridge to sell you. This one was actually sold and relocated here from London?"
- "Do you have a favorite spot you like to look at from this bridge?"

- Harry got into BMX:

- “Oh! Something just popped into my head. I hear that Harry’s first bike was actually a horse?”
- “Just a curiosity question, how that may have helped him progress in the sport.”
- “That being said, do you mind sharing with me your side of how he progressed in the sport, basically the progression of his BMX from riding the horse to just before Harry turned professional?”
- “It is my understanding that your parents only went to one or two of Harry’s races?”
- “Anne, look - paddle boarders. Your Mom and I did paddle board yoga a long time ago.”
- “Linda, do you paddle board?”
- “How was your brother on one?”
- “That’s awesome!” or <response>
- “He worked at Coates right? Can you tell me a little more about that - the sign is iconic!”
- “Did you have a Schwinn too, to start like Harry did?”
- “How far did your BMX career get?”

- Transition

- “The bridge basically goes over this canal here and connects the mainland to this island right?”
- “Do you mind if we take a quick water and view break?”
- Note: <Anne’s water bottle ‘pop’>
- “Here you go kiddo.”
- Kyle: <whispers>”How cool is this Anne. We are on the London Bridge.”
- “Yeah, like the song....London bridges falling down.” “Don’t sing Daddy?”
- “I swear Linda, she normally likes my singing.”
- “Wow, look at that view! Both sides.”
- “There are a lot of boats on the water.”
- “And there goes a boat full of half-naked women.”
- “Ok kiddo, are you ready to get going again?”
- Kyle: <Anne’s water bottle closing sound>

- Harry becoming professional and “leaving” the family:

- So, then Harry started to ride for JMC and turned professional?”
- What do you remember of that era? The JMC era”
- “Then Harry left JMC for Diamondback. How did that change things?”
- “As his younger sister, how did you feel about him, or the situation, during this time period?”

- Transition

- “Look at that, we made it across. Wow, how fun was that Anne?”
- “I guess we should cross the street and head back towards Harry’s paver?”
- “I am curious to see the different perspectives of the bridge.”

- Harry returning to the family

- “So, sorry, do you mind me asking about Harry coming back to the family, for lack of a better way to say this or understanding, and was “involved” again?”
- “Harry really became a family man?” - “like wife, kids, and all?”
- “I am hoping you can clarify something for me, Jami was his first wife?”
- “She said that he was a dancer, believe it or not - from what I read.”
- “But, I did read a quote of Harry’s a while back that kind of confirms it. It was... ah... “Grab her some times and dance with her. With no music, randomly on the street. Dance.”

- From what I can tell, she truly cares for Harry even after all of these years.”
- I came across a number plate a while back that was signed to Shelly? I ended up giving it to our friend Greg Mathias before we learned who Shelly was at all.”
- “Do you mind sharing a little more about who Shelly is?”
- “I don’t know much about Patty but I have heard that the two of them were individually passionate - for lack of a better way to say it.”
- “Do the two of you maintain a relationship at all?”
- “Would you mind sharing a bit about the two of you - in 2025 - is there anything you would like to share about her too?”
- “For the record, I am a firm believer in salvation. I have to. For all I have done. I don’t know if I deserve it though. We won’t get into that now. That is a big reason this has become a journey for me. I got diagnosed as “severe” bi-polar 1 at the age of 39. I am still horrified by some of the things I did while I was in a manic state, before I was able to seek help at the VA and begin to understand my illness. I don’t ask for forgiveness - I have only sought my own understanding.”
- “One thing that has my curiosity, if you don’t mind framing this for me - that in many instances, I see that the vast majority of his supporters are women. And I have heard wonderful things about Harry with children too. Yet, I hear of many of the “Scary Leary” stories. How is that true?”
- “Is there anything else you would like to share about Harry as a family member or someone outside of cycling?”

- Transition

- “1 sec Linda. Anne look over there. See the hot air balloons?”
- “I have actually never been on a hot air balloon ride.”
- “Have you ever ridden in one?”
- “If I had a parachute for Harry to jump out of the hot air balloon on his bike, would he have taken me up on the opportunity?”

- Harry passing:

- “I apologize but do you mind if I ask you a few more personal or potentially difficult to answer questions?”
- “You were notified by the Police of Harry’s passing?”
- “How long has it been now?”
- “Do you mind walking me through that scene and say, perhaps, the following 48-hours in your world?”
- “My understanding is that you were reaching out to Harry’s contacts trying to put pieces together?”
- “One person you contacted was Greg Mathias?”
- “He told me that you were kind of giving him the third degree at first because you didn’t know who he was?”
- “What was going through your mind as you were talking with Greg for that first time?”

- “What was the rest of the search or I guess knowledge quest, for lack of a better way to say that, like for you?”

- Did you learn anything during that time frame that surprised you - post mortem - that you don’t mind sharing - outside of BMX?

- “You were with him when he was cremated?”

- Do you mind sharing about that experience?

- Since Harry died:

- Since Harry died, what has become your understanding of Harry’s impact on the sport of BMX and cycling in general?”

- Have you found closure with his dedication to the sport?”

- Look to the future of his legacy

- As you look towards the future, what do you hope his legacy is?”

- One word:

- Ok, so I like to play this game called “One Word.” Are you down?”

- One word to describe Harry Leary as a brother?”

- One word for what you believe your brother, Harry Leary, was able to achieve as a BMX legend?”

- Transition

- Anne, we are getting close to the end of the bridge.”

- Is that a stage, I see?”

- It looks like a nice place to catch a concert.”
- What an experience this has been! Thank you for agreeing to meet up here and chat”
- Linda: “The memorial walkway is just right down there.”
- Linda: “Oh, if you want to do some gambling while you are in town, you can take the ferry over there.”
- Casino?”
- This walkway.”
- What a cool concept. How long ago did they build this walkway?” (2008)
- Do you know anything about the back story on it?”
- Conclusion:
- Linda: “We are almost there.”
- “Is that it?”... “The paver?”
- Kyle: <Stomp>
- “Is that how you do it?”
- “Hahahahaha... Never in my life would I have guessed that I would be crossing the London Bridge to stomp on Harry Leary’s memory...”
- “But, in all actuality, It is very humbling standing here looking at it.”
- “And you take this walk 2 to 3 times per week?”

- “Do you mind sharing with me how you reflect when you walk down to this paver?”
- “What is the backstory on the paver and how did it get here?”
- “It really is an amazing spot!”
- “I think we are going to need to get Anne-Marie back for a nap soon.”
- “Thank you for the company during our walk. It was amazing learning more about everything we talked about today, and honestly this has been really healing.”
- “Are you down to do this again someday?”
- “Cool, we will figure it out. I want to see his tree and hear about that when we get a chance.”
- “Till then, It's a date.”
- “I look forward to learning more. Bye bye.”
