Linda Leary and I invite you to listen, and we ask that you do so with an open heart and an open mind. This is a story of Harry Leary that focuses on him outside of BMX - from his sister's perspective.

1. Linda Leary Taylor, sister of BMX Hall of Fame Legend Harry Leary, and Kyle A. Huffman met at The London Bridge in Lake Havasu City, AZ on the anniversary of her brother's death. The two walk the bridge with Anne-Marie (Kyle's daughter) and discuss Harry's past as just Harry - Linda's brother & much more.

In this short clip, the three meet up and have a quick conversation before heading out to walk the bridge.

They met at the Lake Havasu City Harley Davidson. Linda also discusses the museum and the museum being haunted - apparently in London a lot of people jumped off of it.

42. Harry Leary, BMX legend, is described by his sister as “a very loving person.” Unfortunately, like every other truthful human - he had his demons. Those demons got worse as his CTE progressed.

CTE stands for Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy is it is a progressive degenerative brain disease caused by repeated head injuries - such as concussions. It leads to the death of nerve cells in the brain and is characterized by a buildup of tau protein, which is different that found in Alzheimer’s disease.

45. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Kyle Knows Firsthand Both Sides of Mental Health - He is BiPolar 1

45. Kyle A. Huffman kind of understands Harry and what Linda went through - at the age of 39, Kyle was diagnosed with BiPolar 1 (severe) by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). Kyle's world was turned upside down - he is seven years past that and still barely getting past it. It isn't easy and his heart goes out to those affected by it.

After sharing his brief story, Linda Leary Taylor - CTE Advocate & sister of BMX Hall of Fame legend Harry Leary, responds with an understanding that unless you are diagnosed, you don't know what the problem is. You automatically think something is wrong with you. Many turn to drugs or alcohol. Mental health and damage problems are illnesses that bring on other bad behaviour - Linda thinks many in the BMX community never saw past that.

Linda believes that the BMX community looked at Harry Leary as a star, a BMX legend, and he had a certain protocol he was supposed to follow. When he fell off of what people felt he should be, it didn't look good - but they never delved into whether or not Harry had this CTE problem.

Maybe there is something wrong?

Maybe there is more to Harry Leary than what everyone thinks there is.

Just know. If you feel like there may be a problem, you are not alone and there is help.

46. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - The Vast Majority of Harry Leary's Supporters are Women

46. Kyle asks Linda Leary - "In many instances, I see that the vast majority of his supporters are women and I have heard wonderful things about Harry with children as well. Yet I see so many 'Scary Leary' stories from people who are outsiders in my opinion. How is that true? That it seems as if so many of the women in his inner circle whole-heartedly support him - still. Even Jami [his ex-wife]?"

Linda shares that Jami is "a great gal" and still supports Harry. Linda considers Jami her sister because, well - she was married to Harry Leary. She acknowledges that some women would disagree with my statement but he was a kind person - which came out in children, dogs, and women - not so much in the male population because he was so competitive.

Kyle chimes in - "Exactly, he was the Alpha right?"

Linda further reflects than when you are that competitive and constantly winning, you will have haters.

There were men who stuck by Harry's side, for example Edward King, Clint Miller, and Greg Mathias. Greg cherishes the kindness that Harry showed Greg.

Linda can be quoted as saying - "There was a kindness to Harry that a lot of people never saw."

With regards to how women generally felt about him - he was very open and could easily talk with women more than most men.

We invite you to listen to our recent conversation about BMX legend Harry Leary with one of his sisters, Linda Leary Taylor, while walking over the London Bridge in Lake Havasu City, AZ.

47. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Harry Leary's Friend & Former Business Partner Dottie is an Angel

47. Dottie is an angel! Both Linda and Kyle have become good friends with her. But, she was originally a very good friend to BMX legend Harry Leary. Linda calls Dottie "a very special friend of Harry's." They owned the Cutting Edge track together. They even tried dating but that didn't work out. Doesn't matter - the two maintained an amazing bond that has survived posthumously and remained best friends, always there for each other.

Kyle shares that Dottie sent him a nice letter and DIRTWERX decals that she had left over from that era - after she learned that Kyle was 'restoring' one of Harry's old bikes. It is also mentioned that Mike Miller speaks the world of Dottie and Linda responds similarly but with the added bonus of learning that Mike was the announcer and Linda was the, the, the - Snackbar Lady!

48. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Kyle Mentions That He is Reading Mike Miller's Book - Day One

48. Kyle A. Huffman, of Lititz BMX, mentions to Harry Leary Sister, Linda Leary Taylor, that he is reading Mike Miller's book - Day One. Linda had previously shared that Mike was the announcer at one of Harry's tracks. Kyle discusses a book club series he is running with the book.

It is a fun book so far - "I haven't finished it yet, but I am loving the book!" Kyle explained after the interview. Linda requested information so that she can read the book - it is available for purchase through Amazon in digital and soft or hard-covered at a reasonable price.

Linda is interested in putting a biography together about Harry's life and is looking for guidance and people to help fill in the blanks. She is not a writer so there may be some assistance in the matter. Kyle offers to assist as best as he can - but he isn't a published author or publisher, although he has played one on TV - ok, not even that. But... both of them think this can be something that can happen.

*60. Kyle brings up that he has chatted with Greg Mathias, who mentioned at the time that Linda Leary Taylor didn't know who he was at first...

Linda gave Greg the 3rd degree. That time is pretty vague in her mind but she believes that Susan, Harry's ex-girlfriend, messaged Linda and asked if she had heard from Harry. Susan also gave Linda Greg's number. Linda ended up messaging Greg.

Harry never mentioned Greg to Linda by name - Harry always said "I have a friend." Linda shares that Greg Mathias is a "Godsend." Without Greg Mathias, Linda doesn't know what she would have done. 64. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - several people inquired about Harry Leary's bikes. Some have been rude and aggressive about it

*64. Linda Leary Taylor would like to "put this out there" - she has had several people enquire about purchasing Harry Leary's BMX bikes. Some have been rude and aggressive about it.

Harry Leary "had virtually nothing left." Linda can be quoted as saying.

Harry sold most of his items and didn't care "a wit about monetary things." Most was sold long ago. Really, the things that remained in his apartment were limited to personal things.

Just to be clear, it isn't any fan's business what happened to his stuff - this is a family matter and Linda has no intention of selling any memorabilia that currently remains with the family.

66. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Explains Getting Harry Leary's Stolen Bike Back

66. Linda Leary Taylor explains that stealing Harry Leary's Daylight BMX bike and leaving everything else was "just weird." But, because she was dealing with multiple jurisdictions it was "a fiasco to get that bike back." Thank God for fellow BMX legends Rob Porter and Greg Mathias, and Rob Porter's wife. They were able to set-up a sting to get the bike back.

67. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Explains "You Don't Touch Harry Leary's Bike."

67. Linda Leary Taylor explains that "You don't touch Harry Leary's bike." - "You would lose a hand."

He also never let them out of his sight. Harry took his bike wherever he went. He was "a little paranoid" - Linda thinks it was the CTE (Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy). He was afraid people were breaking into his apartment and stealing stuff.

Linda further explains that a lot of paranoia came with the CTE.

Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE) is a neurodegenerative disease linked to repeated head injuries, often seen in athletes and military personnel. It is characterized by the degeneration of nerve cells in the brain, leading to symptoms that can include memory loss, mood disorders, and cognitive decline. The condition is diagnosed primarily through autopsy, as there is no specific treatment or cure available. Risk factors include contact sports, military service, and domestic violence. Symptoms typically develop years after the onset of repetitive head trauma, and understanding the relationship between head injuries and CTE is ongoing research.

68. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - They Had to Empty Harry Leary's Apartment

68. The day after the family got Harry Leary's car back, they had to drive to Harry's apartment in Phoenix. Harry's apartment needed to be emptied out. BMX Team USA's Greg Mathias met Linda at Harry's apartment - he had previously retrieved some of Harry's items and he gave everything back to the family. Greg also helped the family go through the apartment. Linda mentions that having Greg there was "very supportive." They laughed. They cried. Two days of awful awful things.

69. On the third day after Harry Leary passed, Linda Leary Taylor had to go to the crematory to pick up his personal effects. Linda and her husband did that together. They ended up having Harry's body transferred from a "shithole" crematory to one in Lake Havasu.

Ironically enough - they have cremated several of Linda's dogs. They also do people - "what better place to have Harry done than at a place that does both?"

73. When Harry Leary was with Diamondback BMX, his sister, Linda Leary Taylor did not realize that he was the manager of the team. She didn't know how the younger kids, and even the older people looked up to him and how he ran the team. Linda didn't know any of that before Harry passed.

Linda saw her brother as "a figure" at that point - she knew he was "good", she knew "he made a living doing it", but... She was a teenager and he didn't want his sister hanging around. Harry ended up "going his own way with the BMX world."

His sister would attend his races a lot but she "didn't go to watch my brother race." Then why did she go? To meet his friends... "Because he had a lot of cute friends."

Linda doesn’t remember where he was. Harry got taken out on a turn. Then, Harry went and picked up his bike and when the rider passed back by Harry on the next turn - “Harry chunked his bike at him.” This resulted in the rider getting knocked off of his bike.

78. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - She Believes BMX Needs to Make Changes Related to CTE

78. Linda Leary Taylor believes that the sport of BMX needs to make changes related to CTE. The injuries that these young kids who are up and coming are going to be facing. The sport has evolved to hard tracks, not dirt tracks. Harry's great niece recently started racing and the first thing Linda did was get her granddaughter a Troy Lee helmet that is specifically made for CTE.

Troy Lee Designs and CTE Safety: A Commitment to Head Protection

Troy Lee Designs (TLD) supports chronic traumatic encephalopathy (CTE) safety primarily through advanced helmet engineering and rigorous testing protocols aimed at minimizing head trauma in high-impact sports like motocross and mountain biking. Here's how they do it:

Helmet Innovation Focused on Brain Safety

- SE4 Helmet Development: TLD invested over 3,800 hours and built 350 prototypes to develop the SE4 helmet, specifically targeting high-impact zones and conducting multiple impact tests at varying speeds and heights.

- Multi-Velocity Impact Protection: Helmets like the A3 feature co-molded EPP and EPS shells designed to absorb impacts at different velocities, reducing the risk of brain injuries.
- MIPS Technology: Many TLD helmets incorporate the MIPS (Multi-directional Impact Protection System), which helps reduce rotational forces that can lead to brain trauma—a key factor in CTE development.

Certified Safety Standards

TLD helmets meet or exceed multiple international safety certifications:

- CPSC, EN1078, AS/NZS, and NTA8776 for bike helmets
- ECE standards for moto helmets These certifications ensure helmets are tested for impact resistance, retention system strength, and coverage.

Rigorous Testing and Design Philosophy

- Crash Simulation Testing: TLD conducts repetitive crash simulations to identify and reinforce vulnerable areas.
- Smart-Shear Visor Screws: Designed to break away during impact, reducing rotational forces that could exacerbate brain injury.

Troy Lee Designs doesn't just make gear—they engineer it with a deep understanding of the risks athletes face. Their proactive approach to helmet safety reflects a serious commitment to reducing the long-term effects of repeated head trauma, including CTE.

79. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - She Would Love to Have Something in Harry's Name

79. Linda Leary Taylor explains that she is an advocate for CTE awareness and that she would love to have something in Harry's name - she believes that CTE is what ultimately killed him or led to his demise.

Long-Term Side Effects of Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE)

CTE is a progressive brain condition caused by repeated head trauma, often seen in athletes and military personnel. Its symptoms typically emerge years or even decades after the injuries and worsen over time. Here's a breakdown of the long-term effects:

Cognitive Impairments

- Memory loss
- Difficulty thinking clearly
- Trouble with planning and decision-making
- Mild cognitive impairment that may progress to dementia

Mood and Behavioral Changes

- Depression and anxiety
- Impulsivity and aggression
- Emotional instability
- Apathy or lack of motivation
- Suicidal thoughts or behavior

Motor Function Decline

- Balance and coordination issues
- Tremors and involuntary muscle movements
- Parkinsonism-like symptoms (slow movement, speech difficulties)
- Motor neuron disease symptoms (difficulty walking, speaking, swallowing, breathing)

Neurological Degeneration

- Permanent destruction of nerve cells
- Build-up of abnormal tau proteins
- Brain atrophy (wasting away of brain tissue)

These symptoms can severely impact daily life, relationships, and independence. While CTE itself isn't fatal, its complications—especially mental health challenges—can be life-threatening if not managed properly.

89. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - “He knew his BMX career was over.” - Linda Explains About Harry Leary

89. In this short reel, BMX legend Harry Leary's sister shares a story of an injury Harry sustained while in his storage unit - putting things away. He was climbing on a ladder, the ladder slipped, and Harry grabbed a beam overhead. The beam was razor sharp and Harry ripped the tendons in one of his hands.

"He knew his BMX career was over." - Linda Leary Taylor explains.

Harry had to have surgery to reattach his tendons. He did change his brake lever to the opposite hand but Kyle pointed out that Harry used to ride with front and rear brakes so he was used to it but maybe a little out of practice. He "raced with a damn bandage on his hand" Linda elaborates. Linda believes that Harry was exercising it when the Dr. told him not to and Harry Leary told the Dr. to f*&k off in a nutshell. His sister believes that was his last really bad injury - approximately 2021.

93. Fireside BMX Chat w/ Linda Leary - Harry Leary Got Arrested in Lake Havasu For Jumping Off The Stage

93. As we walk towards the pathway from the London Bridge in Lake Havasu, AZ Linda Leary Taylor explains that you will see walkers, runners, and bikers

But... There is a stage.

And you are not supposed to be on that stage.

Well, Harry Leary decided he wanted to do “stunts” off the stage.

Linda shares the story of how two security guards on bikes told him that he needed to get off the stage. His answer to them was “fuck you.” They chased after him when he was fleeing. They radio ahead - the path is only 3 feet wide - and another security guard tackled him.

It took those three security guards to arrest him.

Kyle says, “He was just putting on a show.”

Apparently people with laws take offense when someone says “screw you I am going to do what I want to do.”

Just a side note about the stage at the London Bridge Memorial Walkway in Lake Havasu City, AZ.

The Boy - Read by Beverly Blodgett - Mother of BMX Legend Harry Leary

I want to share the story of my son, Harry Leary - a boy who grew into a legend and earned his place in the BMX Hall of Fame. From the time he was just 18 months old, Harry was drawn to wheels. Whether it was propelled wheeled toys or his first bicycle, it was clear that riding was in his blood. From then on, Harry never stopped - he was always on the move, always riding, and always dreaming.

Our home became a hub of activity because of Harry. The neighborhood kids would flock to watch him perform his daring feats - jumping over five kids lying in the street with ramps he built himself, pulling off wheelies, skidding down the sidewalk, or tinkering in his workshops on the bike he built with his own hands. He even took to jumping off rooftops, fearless in his pursuit of perfecting his craft. From those early days, it was obvious that BMX wasn't just a phase for Harry - it was his passion, his purpose in life.

I remember the scratched-up doorways from him insisting his bike stay in his room, never out of his sight. Back then, there were no helmets, no fancy gear, no padding - just a boy with his bike, full of dreams and a fire in his heart to be the best. He raced with a determination that left no doubt about his drive. Even when he lost, he pushed himself harder, trained longer, and set his goals higher. Harry always wanted to be number one, and that determination led him to leave a legacy that lives on not just in the BMX world but in the hearts of everyone who knew him.

As a mother, watching Harry grow into the man he became fills me with immense pride. But, I'd be lying if I said I didn't miss the boy he was before BMX fully claimed him - the spark in his eyes, his laughter, his smile, and the quiet moments when he was still just mine. Now, I trust that he is at peace, riding in God's hands, with the same passion he carried throughout his life.

I miss my boy, but I know the legacy he left behind is one of courage, determination, and joy - qualities that will forever inspire everyone lucky enough to have known him.
